Why we have chosen this curriculum...	We have chosen the topics above because it will give pupils a well-rounded understanding of life in modern Britain and allow them to know facts and figures of our country. We also want pupils to learn from religions rather than just about them. They will develop understanding of their role in society and the importance of our behaviour within society.

Why we have chosen this curriculum...	The reason for picking AQA A GCSE is the variety of topics available to our pupils that allow us to teach pupils about life in modern Britain too in terms of laws, relationships, human rights, range of beliefs and practices and allows an in-depth study of two world religions. We have picked Judaism and Christianity as Christianity is the main religious tradition in Britain and Judaism so pupils can see the development and links between Christian beliefs and Jewish giving them a better understanding of both religions. This course also allows pupils to learn from religion rather than just about it. The examination allows pupils to make links between topics and essay style answers are needed for the 12 markers, this will help pupils who will go onto study academic courses after year 11.
